Reds Accused Of Destroying Unity of Arabs

Nationalist Group
Blames Communists
For Nation's Troubles

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Arab nationalists here are accusing Iraqi Communists of destroying Arab unity.

Most Nasserist intellectuals in Egypt and Syria blame the Communists for troubles in Iraq, where the new revolutionary regime is dealing harshly with elements favorable to President Nasser of the United Arab Republic. These same nationalists once co-operated with the Communists in fighting Western influence in the Middle East. Now events in Iraq threaten to drive a final wedge between them and the Communists on the local political level.

Relations to Continue

Good relations between Nasser and the Soviet Union are expected to continue, however, because the Egyptian leader has never allowed local Communist activity to interfere with his dealings with Moscow. Nasser also is expected to maintain surface cordiality with the Iraqi regime.

Brig. Abdel Karim Kassem, Premier and currently strong man of Iraq, is not a Communist. But Nasserists say the Communists are using Kassem to sow fresh dissension between Iraq and Egypt.

Arab nationalists here blame Iraqi Communists for:

Arrest of Aref

1. The arrest of Col. Abdel Salam Aref, hero of the July revolution and outspoken advocate of immediate Arab union.

2. The arrest, dismissal, or posting to remote regions of most army officers who shared Aref's views.

3. The closing of the daily Al Gumhouria and the arrest of five of its editors. This paper was the organ of the Baathist party, which favored full Arab union. The editors were among the leaders of the Baathist party in Iraq. The Baathists played a leading role in the Syrian-Egyptian merger, and one of their top men, Akram Houri, is vice president of the U.A.R.

Cool Air Dips Temperatures In Middle West

By The Associated Press
Another thrust of cool air dipped temperatures throughout the Midwest early today as the Pacific Northwest prepared for a curtain of showers after an overnight dousing.

The remainder of the weather menu was varied: fair in the Southwest, partly cloudy skies along the Gulf Coast and some warming in the Upper Ohio Valley and North Atlantic states.

Cool air sped eastward from the Plains across the Mississippi Valley into the Upper Great Lakes. This flow was an after effect of the Northwest storm. Reports showed near freezing readings as far south as western Kansas while temperatures in the teens chilled Wyoming.

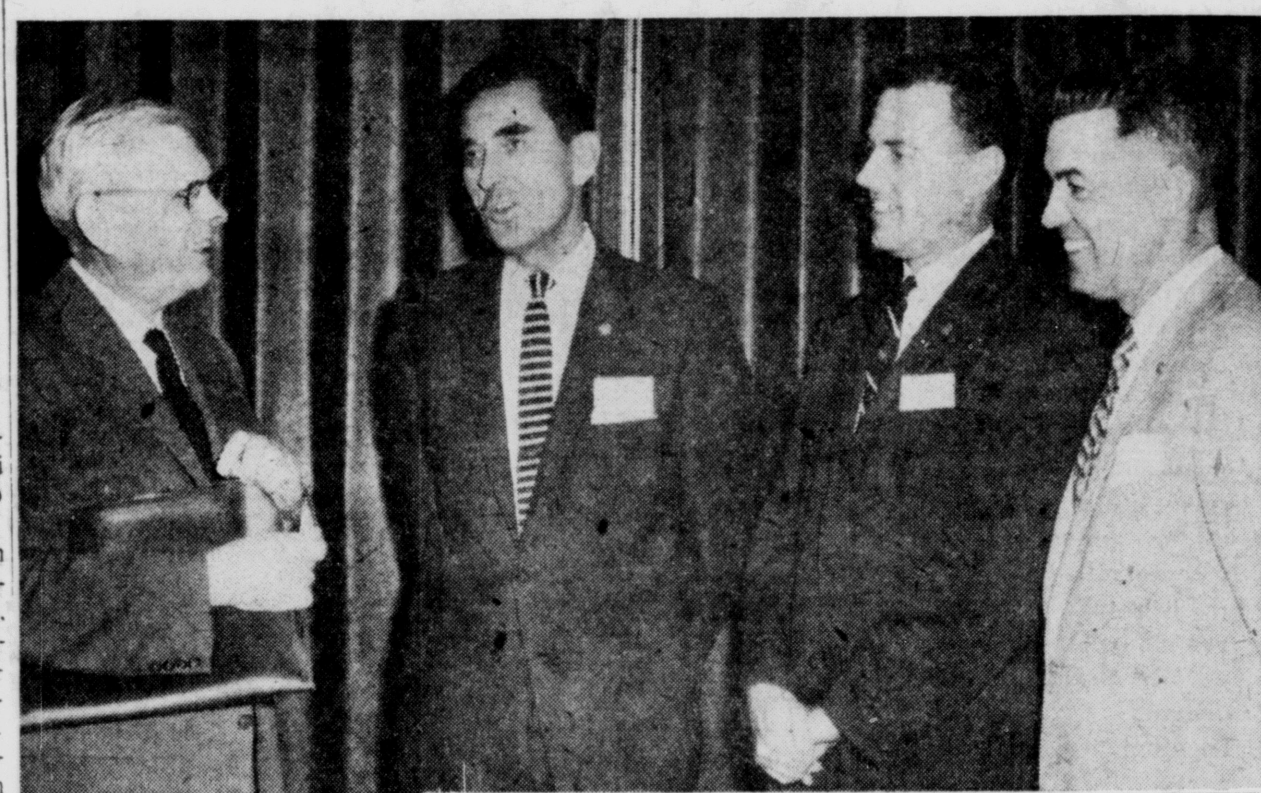

Winds, clocked at 50 m.p.h., buffeted parts of Wyoming as the cold air plunged across the Plains.

During the previous 24-hour period, there had been some warming in the region, which was recovering from an early week cold onslaught.

Bus Safety Project

Two hundred and fifty persons attended the convention banquet of the Ohio Ruritan clubs held Friday evening at West Local School in East Rochester when Floyd Lower of Lisbon, Columbiana County agricultural agent, was re-elected governor of the Ohio district.

Howard Greenfield of Bayard was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Lieutenant-governors named were Fred Puttkamer of Greenford for Zone 1; Wayne Rudibaugh of Fairfield, Zone 2; Wilbur Hirst of West Township, Zone 3, and Dwight Ickes of the Washington (Township) club, Zone 4.

A resolution was passed at the afternoon business session to try to enforce the adoption of greater safety measures for school buses during foggy mornings. Several school bus accidents occurred in the county this fall, one resulting in the death of a small boy.

The Ruritans named a committee to work with law enforcement officers on the project.

Nearly 250 were present representing 20 different clubs for the evening banquet at West Local School. The afternoon session was held in the East Rochester Methodist Church.

National Service awards went to the Damascus Club for community service and the Rogers club for attendance. Second place in community service went to Fairfield and third to Lisbon.

The presentations were made by Tom V. Downing of Franktown, Va., secretary of Ruritan National, who spoke briefly.

Principal speaker of the evening was Fred L. Helm of Bexley, O., of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, who told of his experiences in Liberia.

The West Local School PTA served the dinner, a vocal duet was given by Mrs. Leroy Harsh and Mrs. Robert Vaug of East Rochester.

Group Was to Be Sponser

Dallas Opera Hedges On Maria Callas Tour

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Officials of the Dallas Opera Co. said today they have not decided whether to sponsor an opera tour starring Maria Callas to Chicago and New York.

The temperamental soprano who was angrily fired by General Manager Rudolf Bing of the Metropolitan Opera Co. of New York, said she has been too busy and too upset to make any plans beyond her current concert tour.

Last weekend she opened the Dallas season with two performances of "La Traviata," seen by more than 8,000 persons. She is to give her second performance of "Medea" tonight. The three performances received critical acclaim and enthusiastic ovations from capacity audiences.

Leo Corrigan, multimillionaire real estate man and chairman of the Dallas Civic Opera Co.'s board of directors, said the board has discussed but is still considering the production of the entire Dallas season in an off-Broadway theater in early January.

Although Miss Callas said she has made no plans beyond her present tour, it was obvious that she would like an opportunity to sing in New York.

Of Bing's statement that the Met was glad its association with her was ended, Miss Callas, in a voice that snapped like a whip, said:

"What right did he have to do it? I think his Opera Guild and the people in New York are entitled to say whether they want to hear me."

"I bring in the people and he gets the money."

"Why did he do this to me, an American singer? I am trying to find an explanation."

She acknowledged that she had asked for substitutions in some of her operas for this season but said Bing had allowed other stars to make the substitutions they wanted.

She said she objected to appearing in the Met's standard productions and wanted a chance to do new or rarely heard operas.

Cincinnati (AP)—A Rutgers English professor says he figures Americans "seem to be dedicated to the idea of buying our way to happiness."

John Ciardi, also an editor of the Saturday Review, told a general meeting of adult educators Friday night:

"American commercialism is dedicated to making us deliberately unhappy. Advertising exists not to satisfy desires but to create them—and to create them faster than any man's budget can satisfy them."

"We are taught that to possess is to be happy and then we are made to want. It is our duty to be dissatisfied with what we have."

Ciardi was a principal speaker at a meeting of the National Assn. of Public School Educators together with the Adult Education Assn. and the Council of National Organizations.

Also addressing adult educators Friday night was the dean of the University of Kentucky's education college, Dr. Lyman V. Ginger. He said he thinks American schools must buckle down to the problem of boosting this country's supply of trained people.

"The U.S. has 35 million people in education; China today has 45 million people in adult education—and their purpose is to promote communism," he said.

"We have one commodity which enables us to maintain the number one position in the world—trained people."

United Nations Urges Russians To End A-Tests

Eisenhower, Dulles
Hold Open Possibility
Of Soviet Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials hoped today that Russia would yield to American and United Nations urging and suspend further nuclear weapons tests pending outcome of negotiations on an enforceable test ban.

Some authorities thought it might be significant that the last reported Soviet nuclear explosion was on Nov. 3, the day before the U.N. Assembly adopted a resolution calling for suspension of tests during the Geneva negotiations.

Other officials said there was no real way of telling what the Russian government will do about the issue in the next few days.

Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have held open the possibility of a belated Soviet agreement to a temporary cessation of testing.

In an evident move to put pressure on the Moscow government, Dulles said Friday Russia faces the condemnation of world public opinion for persisting in nuclear test explosions after the Gueva talks opened a week ago Friday.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced earlier Friday that the Russians had fired two test shots, one on Nov. 1 and the other on Nov. 3.

At the same time Eisenhower announced the United States and Britain would continue with their self-imposed temporary test ban, at least for the time being. He added "We hope that the Soviet Union will also do so."

Dulles told his news conference he did not know how long the United States would wait before making a decision on whether to resume testing.

He said this would depend on a number of considerations, such as a determination by the Defense Department and the AEC of the need for further U.S. testing.

Three Billion Dollars In Treasury Auction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Approximately three billion dollars in federal securities will be auctioned next week to raise money for government operations during the rest of 1958.

The Treasury announced Friday the 21-day tax anticipation bills will be sold to the highest bidders—with the difference between the face value and the accepted bid determining the effective interest yield.

The Treasury set 1:30 p.m. ET Friday, Nov. 14, as the deadline for bidding on the securities.

The bills, all to be dated Nov. 20, will mature June 22 and the government will accept them at face value in payment of taxes due June 15.

'Safe' Blasts Gauged By U.S. Nuclear Tests

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The last four nuclear shots fired at the Nevada test site in October gave scientists the knowhow for land-scaping the earth safely with atomic explosives, says one of the researchers.

From measurement of the blast effects, all of which were underground, the observers learned just how strong the explosions can be at given depths without breaking through the surface and spewing out radioactive particles, he reported.

The calculations yielded a formula called scaled depth. It can indicate the amount of explosive to use and the depth it must be buried to create a new harbor in Alaska or loosen five million tons of rock or ore.

Given Before Academy
The formula was given in a paper before the National Academy of Sciences Friday by Dr. Gerald W. Johnson, of the University of California's thermonuclear laboratory at Livermore. Dr. Johnson was one of the observers at the test site.

From the Rainier shot, fired in Nevada before the October operations, the experimenters got the beginning of the formula. The Rainier explosion had been set at a scale depth of 670 feet. It yielded information, Dr. Johnson said, that it could have been set off safely at a scale depth of 450 feet.

The four shots in October varied in strength. The smallest, Dr. Johnson reported, was equivalent 100 tons of TNT and the heaviest to more than 20,000 tons. Their scaled depths, he added, ranged from 200 feet to 770 feet.

A 20,000-ton blast, Dr. Johnson said, will break up four to five million tons of rock.

Car Was Driving Wrong Way

Seven Persons Die In Turnpike Crash

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Alive but incoherent, a wrong-way turnpike driver was the only survivor today of a head-on collision that killed seven persons. A state patrolman was speeding to head him off when the crash came.

Why was John M. Hines Jr., 41, of Detroit, headed east in a west-bound lane? Ohio Turnpike officials tried to piece together clues today, but admitted it was guesswork.

Hines was reported in fair condition at a hospital, but in no condition to be interviewed.

Six members of a Jamestown, N. Y. family and Hines' passenger, Mrs. Claudia Brooks, 45, also of Detroit, were killed in the turnpike's worst crash since it opened Oct. 1, 1955.

In the other car Friday night were George N. Bentley, 32, of Jamestown, his wife Della and their four boys, aged 18 months, and 3, 12 and 13 years.

Found Toll Ticket

Patrolmen found an oil-stained toll ticket indicating Hines had entered the turnpike at Exchange No. 5, Stony Ridge. The time was blurred. Stony Ridge is a little east of Toledo, at Milepost 70, counting eastward from the Indiana line.

There was no report of trouble at Freemont Interchange No. 6, at Milepost 92, nor at the service plaza at Milepost 100.

But the patrol's log shows a patrolman stopped at Castalia maintenance building, on the north side between Milepost 107 and 108, to report an eastbound car in the westbound lane. A radio message went out at 11:20 p.m. and the

4 In Home Looting Given Probation

Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin arraigned four East Rochester youths yesterday on charges of breaking and entering.

Placed on probation by the court were Larry Ingledue, 25, a girl aged 17 and a boy, 16. Kenneth Ingledue, 19, was ordered to enlist in the Army.

Mrs. Floyd Smalley Jr. of Hanover reported that her home had been entered Nov. 4, taking groceries and other small items. Entry had apparently been made through a window in her kitchen, she told Hanover township constable Roy Painter.

On the evening of Nov. 6 Mrs. Smalley placed marked items in her kitchen, and the next morning they were missing. An investigation followed.

Kenneth Ingledue and the 17-year-old girl were apprehended by Knox Township Constable Merle Hardy. Larry Ingledue and the boy, 16, were picked up by Constable Painter of Hanover.

Red Affiliated Persons Request 596 Passports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department's security chief said today 596 persons with a record of Communist affiliations have applied for passports since the Supreme Court ruled the department lacks authority to deny passports in such case.

Roderic L. O'Connor, administrator of the department's bureau of security and consular affairs, gave the figures in a speech prepared for a Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting.

O'Connor made no direct criticism of the court's decision last June that Congress had not given the department authority to turn down passport requests because of a citizen's Communist associations.

But he urged wide support for legislation which he said will be proposed to "remedy this dangerous situation."

Misfire Occurs In Third Stage Of U. S. Rocket

Two More Probes
Are Authorized
As Army Projects

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force launched its third moonrocket early today but failed to get it into outer space when its third stage misfired.

It rose only about 1,000 miles—only a fraction of the 220,000 mile distance to the moon.

The 52-ton rocket took off in perfect form at 2:30 a.m. EST.

Less than 10 minutes later, the Air Force reported that all the rocket's three main stages had fired. It said the launching "has now been accomplished."

But within a few minutes a radio test showed that the third stage failed to ignite.

In Washington, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said "At this time we don't know why the third stage did not fire."

Scientists Studied Data

NASA scientists studied data obtained from tracking stations and announced about two hours after the launching that the rocket reached an altitude of about 1,000 miles before falling back into the earth's atmosphere.

The agency said it entered the atmosphere over east-central Africa—about 7,500 miles from Cape Canaveral—and burned up due to air friction.

Two more lunar probes have been authorized, both as Army projects. The initial Army attempts may be made in the first week in December, although there has been no official announcement in this regard.

Four Persons Treated After Road Mishaps

Four persons were injured in three traffic accidents investigated by the State Highway Patrol on area roads Friday.

Two persons were injured in a one car accident just east of Salem on Route 14 at 12:05 p.m.

A car driven by Mrs. Edna McFarland, 26, 373 N. Howard Ave. pulled out of a gas station and failed to straighten out, hitting a telephone pole, patrolmen reported.

Mrs. McFarland received laceration of the nose and her son Pat McFarland, 3, received contusions of the nose. Both were treated at Salem City Hospital and released.

Salem Girl Injured
Barbara Ford, 17, of 336 W. Wilson St. is reported in fairly good condition at the Salem Central Clinic following a highway accident; at 12:10 a.m. today, one mile south of Malvern.

Miss Ford is being treated for contusions of the chest and right

Stacey, Gard To Begin Nov. 15

Results Certified
By County Board

Two democrats, elected to fill unexpired terms in county offices are expected to take over their duties next Saturday after receiving their commissions.

The first of the new democratic officeholders to begin their terms are R. Max Gard, of Lisbon RD 4 and Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana.

Gard defeated Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool for an unexpired term as county commissioner and Stacey won out over John W. Peterson of East Palestine for an unexpired term as clerk of courts.

Both terms will end Jan. 1, 1961. The county election board today certified the official results of Tuesday's general election to secretary of state Ted W. Brown.

The board also forwarded the certificates of election for Gard and Stacey along with the $5 fees required for their commissions.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said. Two commissions will be issued by Gov. C. William O'Neill through the secretary of state's office and returned to the clerk of courts office at Lisbon in time for the two men to qualify next Saturday at the start of a new pay period.

O'Hanlon explained. Both men already have filed the required statements under the corrupt practices act.

Gard reported receipts of $22 and expenses of $22.50 while Stacey said he spent $121.51 in his campaign. Bernard Freeman, chairman of a committee that supported Stacey, reported receipts and expenditures of $461.86.

The official canvass showed only minor changes from the unofficial vote tabulation, O'Hanlon said. The total vote is cast in the county was 39,826, a gain of 11 over the unofficial total.

Besides certifying the results to state officials, the election board also will certify the result of East Liverpool's ordinance repealing the city income tax to city council, O'Hanlon said.

The official county vote showed 5,368 for repeal and 3,477 opposed. Two other democrats who won

Bible Words for Today

JEREMIAH 8:7 —
"Even the stork in the heavens knows her times; and the turtle dove, swallow, and crane keep the time of their coming; but my people know not the ordinance of the Lord." (RSV)

Jeremiah, who was a country boy and loved the world of nature, observed long centuries ago the wonderful migrations of the birds and marvelled at the unfailing regularity of their return when the seasons came round. The birds are always true to the laws of their nature. How different it is with man! He, too, has a law of his being — the law of God, written in his heart and in the Bible. But unlike the birds and other lesser animals, he fails to obey that law and so brings chaos and misery into the world. The tragedy of human life is that men refuse to be true to themselves. We are fully men only when our lives are fully conformed to God's will. It is the nature of the bird to return with the changing seasons; it is the true nature of man, at every season, to direct his life toward God.

Religion At Work

By EUGENE CARR
Eventual Justification

A doctor friend recently cited devastating to confidence. Even an excellent example of the basic truth that sincere effort and worthy purpose eventually win justification and reward.

As the story goes, some years ago a nationally known surgeon developed a new method of treating inflammation of the mastoid bone behind the ear.

Up to this time the surgeon had been highly regarded in his profession, but now his new and revolutionary practice brought down an avalanche of criticism upon him. He was "upsetting the applecart!"

When he presented a research paper on his findings before a prominent medical group, the audience was cold and indifferent. There was not one handclap of applause when he concluded and sat down.

But he refused to give up his new treatment or compromise his purpose. He stuck doggedly with his research and practice as best he could within the limitation of his own office facilities.

FOUR YEARS LATER the same surgeon was given a tremendous ovation when he appeared once again, by invitation, before a large medical convention. His perseverance, his sincerity and the proved worth of his work had won out over opposition.

The important point, however, is that at no time did the surgeon show resentment or bitterness toward his colleagues.

He took their criticism as he found it. He ignored their misrepresentations of what he was trying to do and their undue emphasis on what he had not yet done. He did not fight back against those who were unfair and unjust to him. Rather, he went about his work secure in the knowledge that what he was doing was a good thing. He did not waste time and energy bickering with those who actually were more afraid he would succeed than alarmed over the possibility that he might be wrong.

NO DOUBT the surgeon in question had many moments when he felt he was a failure. Four years is a long time to be on the outside, so to speak, of the professional or occupational circles that are an integral part of a man's life.

Not to have the respect and admiration of colleagues can be Worse than the accompanying criticism that is based on nothing more than jealousy and fear.

But here is another case on the record of mankind that encourages us to believe that it is not necessary to win the battles of life on the platform of controversy. If the purpose is sound and the effort sincere, the result eventually will be total and complete justification.

It is well to keep in mind that the world long has remembered men who have been unjustly criticized but is hard pressed to recall the names of those who did the criticizing.

13 Rescued Men To Be Welcomed

Group Was Stranded On Polar Ice Island

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — Thirteen of 20 men rescued from a storm-split ice floe near the North Pole are due for a big welcome today at this sprawling air installation.

A spokesman said the 10 scientists and 3 Air Force men in the International Geophysical Year party would be met by a brass band when their plane touches down in midafternoon.

The rescued were due in the same plane, a C123, which landed on the ice island to take them aboard. Accompanying the group was Maj. Basil G. Commons, commander of the rescue mission who flew a C54 as a watchdog over the C123.

George Cvikanovich of Columbia University, the chief scientist on the IGY expedition in the arctic, said by radio from Thule, Greenland, Friday the rescue plane "was the most welcome sight I have ever seen coming out of the air."

Cvikanovich said 30 per cent of the ice floe on which the party was working was lost in a storm about two weeks ago, while another 40 per cent was lost in a storm Sunday. The IGY party had been floating across the arctic making scientific observation.

Maj. Commons had high praise for the pilot of the C123, Joe B. Sullivan of Kansas City. Commons said the rescue "an outstanding performance" and said that Sullivan turned in "the finest piece of flying I have seen in my 15 years of service."

Rocket

A possible portent of trouble for the Air Force moon rocket—dubbed Pioneer II—came when its planned firing early Friday was postponed 25 hours because of technical trouble.

First Try Fizzled

The first Air Force try fizzled on Aug. 17 when the big rocket blew up after 77 seconds of flight.

But on Oct. 11, a second 88-foot rocket traveled about 90,850 miles toward the moon before falling back into the atmosphere and burning up from friction.

Scientists had hoped to get today's ill-starred rocket to within 50,000 miles of the moon, and possibly into orbit around it.

Chances of Pioneer II being a success had been rated in advance at less than 1 in 10.

In its announcement, NASA said Pioneer II reached an estimated maximum speed of about 16,000 miles an hour—well below the 23,900 miles an hour scientists said was needed to send a rocket to the region of the moon.

A spokesman said the rocket probably flew slightly less than 45 minutes.

Apparently Failed

Although Pioneer II apparently failed in its major mission, it rose high enough for the automatic radio signals from the payload to be received for 16 minutes by a tracking station at Jodrell Bank in England. The signals were received between 2:45 and 3:01 a.m.

There were several other reports of signals picked up, including one from International Telephone and Telegraph-MacKay Radio at Southampton, N.Y.

Rain had fallen on the launching site Friday, but the night was relatively clear when Pioneer II blasted off about one minute behind schedule.

To thousands of observers on the beaches along the Florida east coast and to scores of newsmen watching from a vantage point 14 miles from the launching site, the firing appeared normal. But the missile's action shortly afterward caused doubts.

The rocket climbed through some clouds and reappeared about two minutes after launching.

Burst of Flame

It was then that a burst of flame could be seen. Some observers said it appeared to them that the rocket was breaking apart.

However, Maj. Gen. Donald N. Yates, test station commander here, announced:

"The second and third stages of the U.S. three-stage experimental space vehicle launched at the Atlantic missile range at Cape Canaveral at 2:30 a.m. EST today have been fired successfully."

"The launching of the experimental space probe vehicle has now been accomplished."

Shortly afterward, the Air Force had to backtrack.

It announced that "Doppler velocity indications are that the third stage did not ignite."

The Doppler radio device that was aboard the rocket is a system by which signals from the ground to the rocket, and return signals, indicate speeds at a given moment.

Operation Was Normal

Later, a spokesman for NASA, which has over-all direction of the moonshot experiments, said first and second stage operation was normal and "velocity was as planned."

The spokesman said separation of the third stage from the second stage and the payload was achieved but that data indicated "no velocity gain by the third stage."

The 26.3 pounds of instruments aboard the rocket included an infrared scanning device to enable the probe to get crude pictures of the far side of the moon and relay its impressions back to earth—provided it had attained a lunar orbit.

The trip to the moon would have taken 2.6 days, or until next Monday afternoon.

Also aboard the space probe were four devices contained in Pioneer 1. The probe was sterilized to avoid contaminating the moon, on the remote chance it might have hit there.

Standard devices in the lunar probe were an instrument to record magnetic fields of the earth in micrometeorites, one to determine the extent of dead-ray radiation in space.

They were attempting to light the newly installed furnace when it exploded. Brick veneer was peeled off, plaster was shattered and the $24,000 house jarred from its foundation.

Cause of the blast was undetermined.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says he doesn't expect any partisan squabbles over foreign policy with the strongly Democratic new Congress.

Dulles said this Friday in response to news conference questions about how he expects to get along with the new congress which will convene in January with much bigger Democratic majorities in both House and Senate.

He said he is confident U.S. foreign policy will be conducted without partisanship and through cooperation between the Eisenhower administration and congressional leaders.

Red Guns Are Quiet in Formosa Strait Area

TAIPEI (AP) — Quemoy offshore hostilities subsided into another even-numbered day of quiet today.

By early afternoon the Nationalists had not taken advantage of the no-shelling day to push another supply convoy across Formosa Strait, although they sent convoys on the other three no-shelling days this week.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry refused to report on convoy sailings giving military security as the reason. However, Nationalist officials are reluctant to announce the convoys as a matter of face, lest it be interpreted as conforming to a Communist schedule.

Asher Sweeney Almost Did It

More than three million Ohioans who voted in the election last Monday saw the name of Asher W. Sweeney on their ballots.

More than 48 per cent of them indicated on their ballots they thought he should be Ohio's next secretary of state.

It was a curious vote of confidence that he drew at the polls, however, because he is not known to have made a single speech during the entire campaign, or even to have appeared in Ohio.

In the biographical information that he furnished to Ohio newspapers, the Salem man points out that his life since 1942, when he was drafted for military service, has been spent as follows:

He was released from military duty with the rank of lieutenant in 1946. He completed his law studies at Duke University, was admitted to the Ohio Bar, practiced law and was employed by the Industrial Relations Department of Republic Steel Corp. in Youngstown until recalled to military duty in 1950. After service in Korea, for which he received the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service, he has been performing primarily as legal adviser with the U.S. Army, with the rank of captain.

If Capt. Sweeney had made just one speech in Cuyahoga County, where he piled up a thumping majority of 43,274 votes without saying a word, he, too, might have been "the people's choice" for an important state office now being filled capably by one of this country's outstanding experts on election machinery—Ted Brown.

If Voting Could Be Reformed

In the wake of every election, there is a spurt of interest in voting reform. These spurts of interest have accounted for all the improvements that have been made over the course of years.

One potential reform that suggests itself in the wake of the 1958 election is a system of separating voting for and against candidates running for office from voting on propositions that are nonpartisan in nature.

This would entail voting on two different occasions—once to decide races between political candidates, once to decide issues in which there is no element of partisanship.

Actually, this separation is achieved after a fashion in the practice of holding special elections on special issues and in the practice of submitting special issues at primary elections.

The reform, if it were to be made, would mean the addition of a special election day for the settlement of all special questions and issues of a nonpartisan nature.

There might very well be included in this special day the decisions on judicial races, too, which are nonpartisan. Judicial candidates are at a heavy disadvantage in trying to present their qualifications to an electorate that is alternately absorbed in red-hot partisan contests, or alienated because it does not like the contestants.

Silver Lining

To many members of Congress, knocked out of political jobs in last Tuesday's election, there is one morsel of consolation—they will get hefty pensions in their years of involuntary retirement.

Under the contributory pension plan which members can qualify for after 20 years of service, they will receive annual $22,500 salary, pensions up to $18,000 are possible.

Generally speaking, the pension is based on 2½ per cent of the average of a member's five highest congressional pay years, multiplied by his number of years of service, with a top of close to 80 per cent of full pay.

The normal age requirement for retirement is 62 years, with a minimum of five years of service. However, even for those who do not meet that requirement, as quite a few did not last Tuesday, all is not lost. Members may draw reduced annuities at lower ages, if they have had a minimum of five years of congressional service. Added to that five years, for pension purposes, is any time a member spent in the armed services or in any other federal job covered by the government pension plan.

Pension provisions apply equally to senators and representatives. Instead of things being "tough all over," there will be a lot of better with the bitter for the Nov. 4 class of unemployed citizens when the ax falls next.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

A Mid-west woman's illness has been pronounced due to fact she is allergic to money. Doctor says she can't use it except in small doses. And in small doses today what good is it?

Well, we are allergic, too. The mere thought of money makes us feverish and if we get close to real big dough our blood pressure soars. Our doctor has put us on a diet of limited money. We must get along on quarters and dimes if we want to stay healthy.

We offered to touch nothing but nickels but the doctor said we needn't overdo it.

PEOPLE WERE MUCH healthier and happier, doctor says, when a dollar was a dollar and could be handled without causing strain, worry, frustration, psychiatric ills and pains all over. Husbands and wives got along better when the husband got $25 or $30 a week without developing "nervous breakdown rash."

Today money has become an irritant. People who use it freely without developing galloping distemper, night sweats, loss of weight and general irascibility are rare.

There are people today who get $1,000 a day, and life is pretty terrible with them. Big money makes wrecks of them. They get sick, sick, sick.

There homes get broken up and their lives shortened. They steal each other's mates, issue crazy statements and never realize that the real trouble is that they can't stand money.

YOU WOULD THINK doctors would be frank in such cases, but not many ever tell them that they are allergic to dough and will never get back to normal until they give it

Ideally, the nonpartisan issues would be decided at a safe distance from the partisan issues—say two weeks later. It would lead to additional expense, of course, but to say so would hardly be worthy of a society that seems willing to spend money without limit and give unstintingly of its time to almost everything, except the duties and obligations of citizenship in a republic.

Living Language

It develops that a certain dictionary publishing firm has a big staff with a lot of electronic gadgets keeping track of how people use words.

Every day these workers come down to the office and pore over current printed material, punching cards on whether it's being printed "ie" or "ei." If a variation appears enough times the dictionary is changed.

This seems something like college freshmen pecking at each other's papers while taking an exam. Or two guys who have been lucky all their lives to have knife-fork-spoon at a banquet to see which piece of silver to use on the kumquats.

If the first grade gets hold of this counter-spying it will be able to justify its spelling of cat as "catt" even more eloquently than it does right now. And this is to say nothing of secretaries.

But at that, on the way to the dictionary to look up the word "chauffeur" it is a rather heady feeling to know that an IBM machine somewhere is going to jiggle when we spell it "chauffer."

The Real DeGaulle

Premier Charles deGaulle has become one of the most interesting political figures of the mid-20th century.

Had he never returned to the active scene, perhaps the world would have remembered him as he was portrayed by Sir Winston Churchill and others who worked with him in World War II: austere, unbending, humorless, seemingly possessed with delusions of personal grandeur, demanding for France a voice and prominence beyond the limits of its real power.

But in the months since he took office in crisis last June, De Gaulle has gone far to establish a totally new image of himself. Historians looking back upon this era may well decide that this was the correct image all along, that it was simply obscured by the limitations of his position in World War II.

The general today is exhibiting qualities of leadership and statesmanship the like of which France has not seen in a generation or two. Indeed, many think he is showing a good deal more than are the leaders of countries which have been assailing French weaknesses for years.

up or go on a currency diet. Few doctors are allergic to money, so that may be why they lay off the subject.

We were talking to a doctor who isn't feeling very well and is getting worse. He was in fine health when he was charging only a couple of dollars for office visits and making home calls for $3. But he has been charging $25 or initial office visits lately and $10 for subsequent ones.

"I feel lousy," he said the other day. "Your case is simple. You are allergic to money in big doses. Get back to modest sums and you'll be as good as new," we advised. He showed us the door and sent us a bill for annoying him.

"Knock It Off! We're Humanitarians Today"

Ike Faces Bumps

By RALPH MCGILL

When the 86th Congress convenes with its greater Democratic strength, purpose and dynamic, it will not be, as the President so unworthily suggested, radical.

Lyndon Johnson, Democratic majority leader, will still be able to command party unity from all save two or three die-hard Dixie members.

In the more turbulent and more numerous House, Sam Rayburn will neither be stampeded nor diverted by mavericks, of which there will be a few.

The Congress will continue to do business about as usual. There will be no open vendetta with Mr. Eisenhower, despite his really unpardonable California speech.

Both Johnson, Rayburn and the veterans of the House and Senate are too wise for that. They will continue to go along with their own policies.

There will be a few times when the President will be rebuked and rebuffed. He cannot escape that. Indeed, he must already feel some remorse.

But there will be no "get even" campaign by the Democrats. That isn't good politics. It diverts attention from the real job.

NO PARTY LEADER of any stature would think of blowing the session to be wrecked by an open vendetta.

But the President will do well to know that at least a few times in the two years ahead he will suffer a few pains and give vent to an "ouch" or so.

It would be folly to suggest that nothing will be changed. The Democratic advances, first signaled by the victories in Maine, mean that the people have wearied of the Republicans.

The result was neither "landslide" nor "avalanche," to use two of the most showy words in the bright lexicon of politics. We must use an equally weary word, "trend."

The Republicans were perhaps a little too pious and smug. The "hound's tooth" symbol soon became ridiculous. Then, too, promises are like the chickens of the old copybook axiom... they come home to roost. In 1952 Mr. Eisenhower promised to balance the budget, to halt inflation, to reduce taxes, to give the country a sound dollar.

He made it sound very simple. It was, he said, a matter of bringing the best brains to Washington.

Six years have passed. The country is facing a budget deficit of 12 billion dollars. The cost of living is up. The dollar has shrunk. And if taxes are not up, they have not been reduced.

The recession shook a lot of people—especially the younger ones. Those oldsters who came through the depression of the 1930's and remember its corrosive acids on spirit and daily life had a basis of comparison. But today we live in a "monthly payment" economy. The budget is geared to it. And the depression frightened millions who had come to believe in a rock candy mountain sort of existence.

STILL ANOTHER thing grew out of Mr. Eisenhower's choice of "the best brains."

We all live by images. The Gallup Poll recently reported that it had done a survey of the image of the political parties. That of the Democratic party member is "a fellow like myself"... "a worker"... "the image of the GOP was 'big business,'... 'selfishness,'... 'a higher social class.'"

The 86th Congress will not be radical. But it will move toward extension of social services by the government.

We long ago came to accept this sort of help from the central government to build hospitals, highways, public health clinics, to compensate the farmer, to aid the blind, crippled children and the unemployed.

The last Congress passed a federal aid to education bill. It will begin to be implemented next year.

This, too, is a trend of many years. We do not consider it in any sense "radicalism."

If we are honest with ourselves and ignore the usually hypocritical states' rights clamor for a while, we can see that increased participation by the central government for the tremendous population of our country and its urban concentration, if not theoretically desirable, is necessary... and inevitable.

Big labor and big population will more and more require big business. So there will be increasing mergers to promote efficiency and lower the unit costs in food distribution and industry.

The plain truth is that state governments, with their varying incomes, problems, failures and frequent corruptions, no longer have the confidence of the people. More and more they look to the federal government.

Some of this will be reflected in the dynamic of the 86th Congress.

Tempest In Red Teapot

By EARL H. VOSS

Peiping Dissension May Explain Formosa Policy

WASHINGTON
Dissension in the Peiping hierarchy may explain some of the confusing turns in Communist China's Formosa Strait policy, according to a new theory under study in Washington.

The theory is based mainly on two pieces of evidence:

First, the chief of staff of the Chinese People's Liberation Army, Gen. Su Yu, was relieved of his command just before the first week's cease-fire was extended.

Second, there was what amounted to a public admission of differences of opinion among Communists over Red Chinese policy toward the offshore islands and Formosa.

Gen. Su Yu, whose main reputation was made as a tactician, was replaced Oct. 12 by Gen. Huang Ke-cheng, known as a "political" general rather than a military strategist.

Gen. Huang also ranks Gen. Su in the Communist party hierarchy—standing No. 31 compared to Gen. Su's No. 36.

According to Communist precedent in both Moscow and Peiping, deposing key figures in the top command usually is accompanied by changes in policy.

PEIPING ADMITTED quite openly there was a difference in Communist ranks, American officials believe, in the Oct. 13 statement by Defense Minister Peng Te-huai extending the cease-fire. "Some Communists may not yet understand this for the time being. How come such an idea? We don't understand! We don't understand!" "Comrades, you will understand after a while."

This message was addressed not to Taiwan, but to the "Comrades" of the People's Liberation Army at the Fukien front.

It was broadcast the day after Gen. Su was relieved.

Confusion among the Fukien garrison was anticipated, Washington observers deduce, because Gen. Su had been taking a different tack, probably telling his men that Red China would drive the Nationalist Chinese and their American friends off the Quemoy Islands. In Peiping, however, cooler heads were prevailing.

Some American officials believe the cooler heads had begun coming to the fore in early September. They reconstruct the strange Formosa Strait episode this way, speculating on what might have gone on in the Chinese Communist high command:

Up to Aug. 23, when the Red Chinese began heavy shelling of the Quemoy, Peiping had refused to answer the Washington overture of July 28 for a renewal of their bilateral talks at the ambassadorial level in Warsaw.

The severity of the opening day's bombardments has convinced Washington observers that the Reds had more than a political motive.

They must either have intended to invade the Quemoy or to force the Nationalist Chinese garrisons to surrender.

Communist Chinese urged the islanders to kill their American advisers and to defect. They warned that "landing is imminent."

THIS INFLAMMATORY psychological warfare continued until Sept. 6, when Prime Minister Chou En-lai suddenly announced Peiping would be willing to send an ambassador to Warsaw to resume the bilateral negotiations with the United States.

His overture came only two days after Secretary of State Dulles' Sept. 4 journey to President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at Newport, R.I.

It was there that the secretary made clear enough for the Red Chinese leaders, American officials believe, that the United States would resist any invasion attempt.

Speculation here is that Peiping had miscalculated two points: The strength of the Quemoy garrisons and the willingness of the United States to back Nationalist China in holding them.

It is suspected that the more cautious elements in Peiping were convinced of this from early September and prevailed to the extent that no enlargement of the conflict was permitted.

There were apparently still some military voices in Peiping who claimed the Quemoy could be starved into surrender.

For the next month Gen. Su Yu tried to prove that artillery fire alone would bring the Quemoy garrisons down. By early October it was obvious, however, that the Nationalist Chinese with American advice and amphibious equipment could keep the Quemoy supplied for a long time.

This also was obvious in Moscow.

With two exceptions, the wives of public figures on the political varsity in this country during my span of recollection have looked like living dolls, leading me to wonder if there is a screening board for helpmeets.

Having cried and wailed throughout the summer about the loudest weather I can remember, I believe it is only decent for me to acknowledge that this been the best fall weather I can remember—a perfect autumn.

Why is it that outraged male opinion, which drove those unsightly sack dresses into the ragbags, is remaining sweetly silent about the new monstrosities that make women look as if they had been thrust into a feed bag head first and the bag tied around their knees?

Nothing strikes me as less surprising than one more story about one more football player who received the going rate of pay for making some college coach look like a genius. I find this no more reprehensible than the practice of giving scholarships to whiz kids to make college professors look like geniuses.

With no specific assurance that it can be done, I am confident that electronics will make it possible to get rid of today's intricate maze of telephone wires. Eventually, each one of us will be assigned a lifetime wave length and will have his own miniature "walkie-talkie."

Home-Switching Has Its Problems

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

Have you noticed? We, the great American consumers, are demonstrating the most insatiable desire to boost our living standards that perhaps has ever been seen.

Strongest of all perhaps is the current desire to upgrade our dwellings. This is posing a sticky problem for mortgage men, builders and realtors alike. They call it the trade-in house problem and the current higher mortgage rates have little to do with the situation.

Contrary to tradition, an increasing number of families are becoming home-switching minded.

There are several reasons for this. The trek to suburbia, exurbia or back into the city is a factor. There is a definite trend toward larger families. Finally, the most frequent reason for home switching is to upgrade.

TEN YEARS AGO the returning veteran had little to choose from in the way of a home. He was lucky to find a $20,000 house. He got an $18,000 mortgage. He settled for any neighborhood.

Today, he can afford a $35,000 house in a locale of his choice.

He has knocked $5,000 of his original mortgage and discovered his $20,000 house is now worth $25,000. A check with the Internal Revenue Service assures him that if he buys another house within a year, tagged at $25,000 or more, he has no capital gains tax to pay on his $5,000 profit. What's stopping him from buying the new home?

What is stopping him is the $12,000 equity on his old dwelling that he needs in order to swing the new purchase — $12,000 he can't put his hands on until he sells his old house.

To a certain extent he can be aided by his banker. Banks, active in the mortgage field, report that in such instances they have sometimes upped a client's mortgage on his old house back to the original figure in order to help him accumulate sufficient cash to buy another home before selling his first house.

IN SOME INSTANCES, the FHA has tried to help. If a builder or realtor will buy a client's old house the FHA might allow that builder or realtor more liberal mortgage terms than usual, provided the builder or realtor can satisfy the government agency of his reliability and his program for renovating the older dwelling. Such arrangements, however, have not been frequent.

Not by a long shot have these assists obliterated the nightmare of simultaneously owning two houses. A friend recently confessed that after upping the mortgage on his old house, he lost heart and spent his cash remodeling rather than risking the prospect of owning two homes.

Countless realtors and builders are convinced they have lost sales because clients are unwilling to gamble on selling their old abodes. They are hard at work on possible solutions.

Older homes, like popular priced apparel and the stripped model car, are hard to sell. Today's buyer wants and though he may fret he is discerning. He wants what he wants and though he may fret over price, I've noticed he pays.

THE THINGS THEY WANT FOR CHRISTMAS

You know what they're hoping to find under the tree on Christmas morning. The lists have probably been made out for weeks.

You want their Christmas dreams to come true . . . but you know that those dreams of trains and dolls and trucks and bikes cost money.

Maybe you also know how a Salem News Want Ad can help you get that money. But just in case you've forgotten, here's the simple procedure. Look through the house for things you no longer use or want. Then call ED. 2-4601 and list those items for sale with a Salem News Want Ad. An ad taker will help you write your ad, if you like.

When you sell "don't needs" with a Salem News Want Ad you have the money to make their Christmas Dreams come true.

Confident Living

Faith, Hope . . . and Love

A few years ago Canada lost a remarkable man in the death of Dr. Albert L. Cliffe. He had made an important reputation as a chemist but he had made an even greater contribution as a lay preacher and Bible class teacher. No one ever called him anything except Al Cliffe. He was one of the most gifted and practical spiritual teachers I ever knew.

Al Cliffe is gone now, but his unique way of thinking about human problems survives in his books and in the memories of thousands of people who heard him speak. He had the simple belief that the Lord guided him in everything he did.

One day, he told me, the Lord guided his steps downtown in Montreal and sent him to a certain street where friends named Bill and Mary had a haberdashery shop. In the shop he found both of them sitting disconsolately, chins sunk in their hands. "What's the matter with you?" he asked. "You act as though you'd lost your last friend."

"Oh," they told him, "unless something happens soon, we're going to lose our business. We just don't seem to get enough customers and the few who do come in don't buy anything."

JUST THEN a customer walked in and looked in various showcases. Bill and Mary continued to maintain a dejected attitude giving him no friendly interest. Finally the customer became self-conscious in the gloomy atmosphere and walked out. "The reason goes another who bought nothing," Bill said, "So you see why we're so down."

"I'm surprised he stayed as long as he did!" Al Cliffe exploded. "You actually made it hard for him to buy. And just look at this place. Paint is peeling from the showcases; there isn't enough light. Go out and buy a can of white paint; get some big bulbs. Brighten the place up! Make it a happy place!"

But first you'll need to do the same to yourselves. The store will be only as happy and attractive as you are. It will be no more successful as a business than you are successful as persons."

BUT WE'VE GOT TO raise $600 this month from customers who owe us," Mary complained. "Otherwise we can't pay our own bills. Why won't people pay their accounts? Look at this pile of bills we're sending out. But little good it will do us. We'll never get out of the red." So they moaned. . .

Al Cliffe looked at the statements stamped and ready to be mailed. "These are not bills. They're people," he declared. "You're not thinking right. Now, look, let's do something spiritually creative. Bill, you place your hand on these letters. Now, Mary, put your hand on Bill's. And I'll rest my hand on top. Now let's pray together for these people who owe you money, and let's try loving them, too. If a person doesn't pay his bills, it shows that he needs prayers and love; something is wrong with him morally and spiritually. Perhaps our prayers and love going out along with these bills can help make people better. And by doing this we can help make our lives better, too." So spoke that wise and unique man.

Well, those spiritually dedicated bills went out along with the prayers and loving thoughts. What happened? Only this: Before the month was over, Bill and Mary had received 85 per cent of the outstanding accounts on their books, funds they needed so desperately.

They became a changed and outgoing couple. As a result their store became a changed place and gradually their business improved. When they started putting love and happiness into their work, love and happiness came back to them. That's the way it works.

"LOVE IS THE KEY LAW of all laws," wrote Al Cliffe. "We must love God, and we must love our fellow-man; these are the underlying teachings of the Master. Therefore no matter what we give in service and money to God and our fellow-men; our lives must be ruled by love."

The Bible says this even better: "Faith, hope, love abide, these three; but the greatest of these is love."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	17	21-26
Monday	Matthew	18	20
Tuesday	Luke	24	13-32
Wednesday	Acts	2	42-47
Thursday	Acts	20	28-35
Friday	Mark	10	42-45
Saturday	Romans	15	1-7

It was Sunday morning. I had stopped only long enough on my journey for an hour of worship. The church was almost filled when I slipped into my seat. I knew no one. Yet between me and these worshippers there was a bond of fellowship. I bowed my head in worship of our Lord.

Then I thought of those in distant lands who must worship the Christ amidst ridicule and persecution. They too were my brethren and I prayed for them.

Through the church rang the triumphant notes of the opening hymn "Faith of our Fathers, Living Still."

My heart and my voice sang together as I remembered those of old who had labored and died that the Church might live. With fellow Christians, whom I did not know, I sang my promise:

"Faith of our fathers, holy faith
We will be true to thee till death."

If only everyone knew the joy and satisfaction that my faith brings to me! Start attending the services of the Church—and your life too will be enriched by that bond of Christian fellowship that has sustained millions through the centuries.

Salem Extended Before Beating Bears In Finale 21-8

Leetonia Ace Gains 84 Yards; Ehrhart Gets 134, Slaby 131; Marks Is Defensive Stalwart

By GORDON ARNDT

Salem's Quakers were never permitted to give up and knew they were "in" a ball game for 48 minutes Friday night at Reilly Stadium as they ended their 1958 season with a hard-earned 21-8 win over the gallant and never-say-die Leetonia Bears.

The Red and Black outwitted the visiting Blue and White considerably, especially along the line, but the Bear linemen carried the fight to the bigger Salem forward wall throughout the contest.

Salem mentor Earle Bruce was prohibited from substituting freely because the Leetonians carried the fight to Salem with a hard charging line. As such, the Quakers' 12 seniors had no chance to receive a round of applause in the traditional gesture of having them leave the game one-by-one.

Twelve seniors also concluded their career for Pat Mancuso's forces. Salem ended with a 7-2 record including the last five in a row while Leetonia finished with a 4-4-1 mark.

Leetonia's Bob Osterling, Columbiana County's leading scorer with 101 points, was held without a was tied 8-8 with 9:08 left in the half.

Following the next kickoff Salem moved for a first down to midfield but lost possession when Baker intercepted a Malloy pass and returned it to the Salem 47.

However, three plays later Ehrhart intercepted a Tilley toss and returned it 21 yards to the Quaker 42.

A 15-yard infraction against Salem on the play moved the ball back to the Quaker 13.

On first down Ehrhart took the ball from Malloy and cut through tackle. He burst into the clear and raced 64 yards all the way to the Leetonia 23.

Malloy then passed to Ehrhart for a first down on the 11. Slaby bowled his way on the next play to the Leetonia one. Ehrhart then bolted into the line and although momentarily stopped at the line of scrimmage slid off a defender into the end zone for a score that broke the deadlock.

BEN JONES' kick was wide to the left and Salem led 14-8.

Leetonia couldn't move with the kickoff and punted to the Salem 43. The half ended with Salem trying a pass from the Leetonia 37 after moving for one first down.

Salem took the second half kickoff and without any messing around marched 67 yards in 11 plays for the only score of the second half.

Slaby made 15 on the first play to move from the 33 to the 48. Two plays later the big bulldozing fullback made another first at the Leetonia 41. Here in turn a 15-yard penalty against Bears hurt them and moved the pigskin to the 26.

On a fourth and four situation from the 20 Malloy made five on a keeper for a first down.

Slaby made nine to the six yard line. He then made three and Ehrhart two to move it to the one. On the next play Slaby powered his way over.

Jones converted successfully for the 65th time of his career and Salem led 21-8. Jones made 11 of 22 this season and ended his career with 65 of 106.

Leetonia took the kickoff and made two first downs to the Salem 37 but punted. They got the ball back when Joe Less recovered a fumble on the Salem 40. Leetonia couldn't progress and kicked one more.

SALEM marched to the Leetonia 8 but a fumble again on fourth down halted their drive.

Starting on their own 43 the Bears started moving well and gave notice they were not about to quit trying although time was running out.

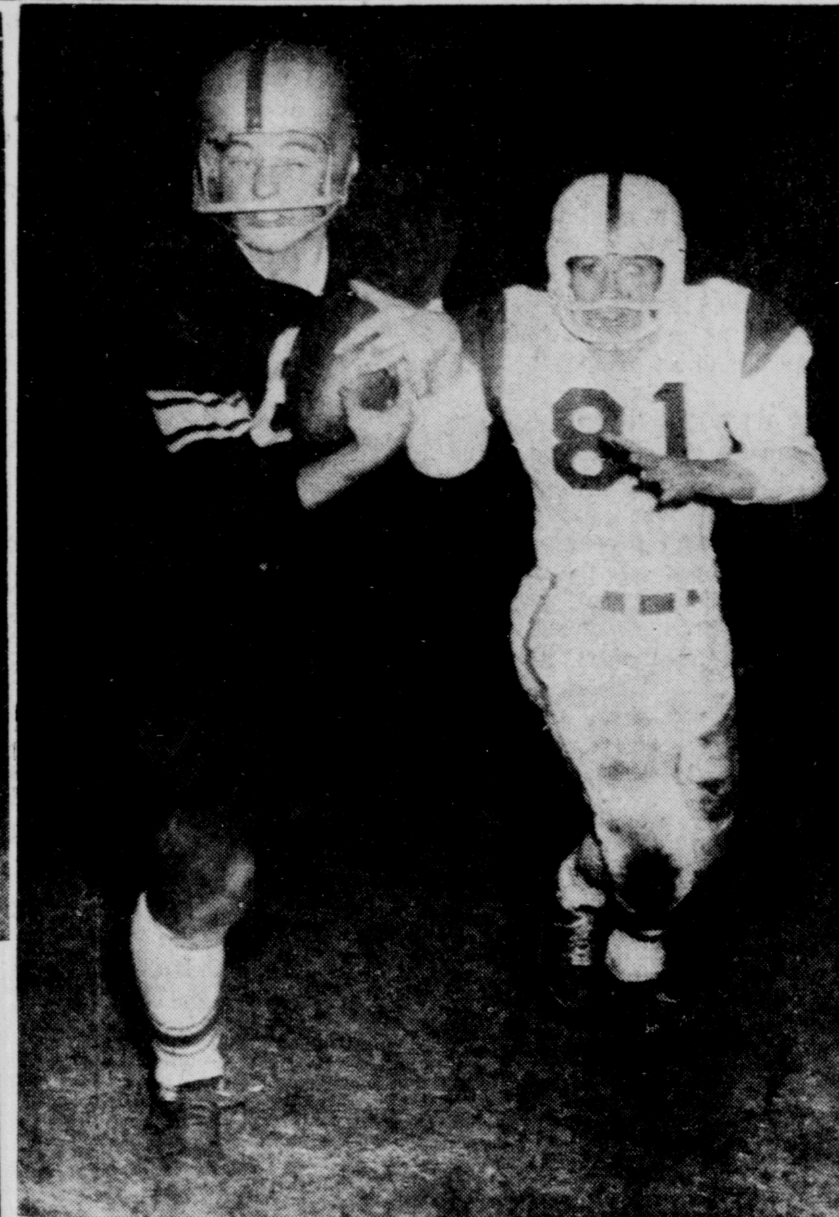

They made three successive first downs and marched all the way to the Quaker 14. On a fourth down Tilley tried to pass and couldn't find a receiver. He ran for five but it was short of a first down.

Salem took over and moved for a first down themselves to the 30.

The game ended three plays later with Ehrhart gaining 13 yards to the 43 on the last play of the game.

Bruce as now completed three years as Salem's head coach. His record to date is 20-8 including a highly commendable 16-3 mark during the past two years.

Salem's 12 seniors who played their last game were Ehrhart, Slaby, Malloy, Jones, Marks, Bill Hone, Metcalf, Ken Garlock, Ray QUAKER - BEARS GRID ACTION — Salem's 18th-ranked Quakers were extended last night at Reilly Stadium in their season finale before downing the stubborn Leetonia team 21-8. Above are three scenes of the game. In the top picture bull-dozing Salem fullback Lou Slaby bowls his way for valuable yardage. Two Leetonia defenders have their grip on him while two others are about to pounce on the 200-pounder. In the bottom shot Salem's Fred Phillis is about to be brought down by three Leetonia men including Jim Smith No. 45. No. 77 for Salem, behind Smith, is Ralph Ehrhart. At the right Bill Hone is being chased by Warren Gullett after taking a pass from Kent Malloy which gained 12 yards just before the half ended.

single tally by the Salem forward wall which was spearheaded by the playing of Clyde Marks. "Os" picked up but 84 yards in 24 tries for one of "his" worst nights of the season. Osterling nevertheless this season accumulated the fantastic record of rushing for 1,463 yards in 296 tries for an average of just under five yards a carry.

SALEM's vaunted ground game and heavier line paid off as the game progressed as it wore down the determined Leetonia linemen.

The Quakers' double-barreled running offensive of co-captains Ralph Ehrhart and Lou Slaby spelled the big difference. Ehrhart garnered 134 yards in 16 carries while Slaby picked up 131 yards in 23 tries.

There were no points made in the first quarter but after eight minutes and 15 seconds of the second frame a total of 22 points had been registered. Only one TD was made in the whole second-half.

Salem quarterback Kent Malloy, who hit on seven of 10 passes for 202 yards and three TDs last week in the 45-20 win over East Liverpool, conducted on only three of 11 aerials last night for 56 yards.

Salem kicked off to start the game. Leetonia moved for one first down and punted the ball out of bounds on the Salem 38.

Following another exchange of punts Salem took possession on their 48.

They moved for two first downs to the Leetonia 32. With a fourth down and 15 from the 37 Malloy passed to Dave Metcalf who caught the ball at the 40 and raced down the sideline to the 15.

Two plays later Ehrhart moved the chains to the Bear five. On third down Slaby cracked over from six inches out and Salem led with 11:23 left in the second quarter. Leetonia was penalized to the one for being offside on the first conversion try. Slaby then bucked over for two more tallies and Salem led 8-0.

IT DIDN'T take long for the fighting Bears to tie the score. A 15-yard penalty against Salem for holding cost the Quakers dearly.

Leetonia took the kickoff and on fourth down punted out of bounds on the Salem 30. However the penalty gave them a first down on the Salem 45.

On first down Jim Grove took a handoff from Terry Tilley on an inside reverse and shot through a big hole in the middle of the Salem line on a perfectly executed play. Grove outran three Salem secondary men to score although he was tackled as he crossed the goal line.

On the conversion Tilley passed successfully to Dave Macry who was all alone and the game

Leetonia's 12 seniors were Warren Gullett, Joe Gbur, Gene Lefler, Dave Hosack, Jim Lydon, Less, Grove, Baker, John Ferry, Jim Smith, Osterling and Tom Haschen. Haschen missed the game because of an injury suffered two weeks ago.

THE SALEM NEWS

For 69 Years A Dependable Salem Institution

and just plain old good tangles in major college football.

Louisiana State, unbeaten, untied and No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, plays Duke tonight. Once-tied Iowa, No. 2, had a chance to win the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl berth against Minnesota. Army, also tied but unbeaten, made its first trip to the Southwest to play Rice, a team that could be headed for the Cotton Bowl.

Northwestern, ranked No. 4, played Wisconsin, No. 7, Notre Dame, with new star George Izo, met Pitt. And Oregon State could just about clinch the Rose Bowl berth due the Pacific Coast Conference champ by beating Washington State.

Syracuse, even after beating Pitt, the team that tied Army, had a problem against BU. It wasn't a question of whether the Orange would win, but how they'd look doing it.

They looked good, even with Ed Keiffer—who rolls at fullback in the Panzer Unit with quarterback Chuck Zimmerman and halves Tom Stephens and Ger Schwedes—left home with an ankle injury.

Florida State whipped the Miami Hurricanes 17-6 and Tulane defeated Alabama 13-7 in other major games Friday night.

Shoots Scheduled By Hunting Club

Three shoots have been scheduled by the Salem Hunting Club this month.

A trap shoot will be held Sunday beginning at 2 p.m.

Turkey and ham shoots have been scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 16, and the following Sunday, Nov. 23. They also will begin at 2 p.m.

The .22 caliber rifle matches planned for Nov. 23 have been canceled because of the turkey and ham shoots on that date.

All area shooters are invited to participate.

Lisbon Beats Jackson-Milton E. Palestine Blanks Clippers

The Lisbon Blue Devils wrapped up their season with an easy 50-13 win over Jackson Milton last night at Lisbon.

In the first quarter Jackson-Milton led off with Tuehaun driving over from the five. A kick for the extra point failed. Lisbon came right back as Tom Brooks raced for 55 yards. Quarterback Denny Reese ran for the extra points.

In the second frame Lisbon scored again as Reese went over from the five. Reese's pass to Johnson was good for two points. This didn't stop Jackson-Milton as they took the ball on the Lisbon 30 and went for a TD with Tuehaun again going over from 10 yards out. The try for extra point failed. Lisbon took the kick-off and went all the way to score on a Reese pass to McLaughlin. A pass for extra point failed and the halftime score stood 22-13 for Lisbon.

Lisbon struck like lightning in the third frame as on a sustained drive with Jack Williams plunging over from the third. A pass attempt for the EP failed. The Blue Devils were not done as they scored again in the third quarter on a 12 yard run by Reese. Brooks added the two points to make the score 36-13.

The Blue Devils put the finishing touches on the game in the fourth quarter as Johnson went 20 yards for another score. An extra point run by Brooks was good. It was all over but the shouting as second string half-back Dillard scored the final TD on a five yard plunge. The extra point failed.

Lisbon wound up their season with 5 wins against 4 losses.

East Palestine 28

Columbiana 0

THE EAST PALESTINE Bulldogs held on to their undefeated position by blanking the Columbiana Clippers 28-0 at Firestone Stadium in Columbiana last night. The score does not represent the playing ability of Columbiana as they penetrated deep into East and Palestine territory throughout the evening and the Bulldogs capitalized on several breaks. The Bulldogs scored as follows:

In the first quarter a Columbiana punt was blocked and end Jim Knight scooped up the loose ball and raced 30 yards for a score

Beau Bell's try for the extra points failed.

In the second quarter, the Bulldogs' George Morris electrified the chilled crowd with a 95-yard gallop. Morris's try for a conversion failed.

In the third frame, a bad pass from center drifted into the Clippers end zone where East Palestine fell on it for a safety. Fullback Bell added another RD on a 1-yard plunge. A Woods to Wellendorf pass was good for the extra 2 points.

In the fourth quarter, Bell added another touchdown with a 2-yard plunge. Morris added the extra points.

The unbeaten and untied Bulldogs now have a 8-0 record with one more game on the docket as they will play host to a tough Bellaire-St. Johns team next Friday night. Columbiana now has a 2-5-1 record. They also have one more game as Louisville invades Clipper-town next Friday night.

New York's
Kenny Sears
Hits for 41

By The Associated Press
Kenny Sears, the 6-9 blond from Santa Clara, must be determined to help get the New York Knickerbockers into the National Basketball Assn. playoffs.

His performance in the two-week-old season shows it.

Sears is in his fourth year with the Knicks. In each of the previous three the New York team failed to qualify for the playoffs, through no fault of Kenny's. Last year he had an 18 point a game average while leading his teammates with 1,342 points.

Friday night, Sears scored 41 as the Knickerbockers trounced the Detroit Pistons 115-101. The triumph was New York's fourth in five starts and gave Fuzzy Levane's men a one-game lead over Boston in the Eastern Division race.

While hitting a personal NBA high with his 41 points, Sears also connected for 12 straight baskets—a Detroit Olympia record—and sank 17 of 18 free throw attempts.

Kenny now has scored 135 points in five games for a 27.0 average. Only Bob Pettit of St. Louis, with 29.2, has done better.

Committee Asks For Enlarged Racing Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A committee studying Ohio racing laws today recommended an enlarged State Racing Commission.

The group, headed by Sen. Theodore M. Gray (R-Miami), accepted these proposals for submission to the next Legislature:

Expand the four-member racing commission to five members and increase pay from $3,200 to $4,000 a year.

Employ a full-time commission secretary at $7,500 a year, instead of a part-time secretary at $2,500 a year.

Retain the track racing season limit of 44 days.

Clarify statutes to make it definite that tracks in the same county or within 30 miles of each other can hold meets on the same day, but at different times.

71 Golfers Remain In Atlanta Open

ATLANTA (AP)—The 61 pros and 10 amateurs who survived the final cut in the Atlanta Open Golf Tournament had a day off today before heading onto the Cherokee Country Club course for the final 18 holes Sunday.

The unusual holiday in the midst of a tournament was scheduled due to the Georgia Tech-Clemson football game here.

Leading the field going into the last round over the tough, 7,004-yard course was Julius Boros, 39, Mid Pines, N.C., pro who was U. S. Open Champion in 1952.

Boros, who staged a startling comeback with a six-under-par 66 Thursday, was two-under Friday for a 70 and a total of 210.

Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., Bill Casper, Apple Valley, Calif., and Bob Watson, Ardley-on-Hudson, N. Y., continued to shoot steady golf to tie for the runner-up spot at 212.

Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., pro who set the club record with a 64 on Thursday, fell to a 77 Friday and a three-way tie with Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla., and Bill Collins of Baltimore, Md. for the third spot at 213.

In the fourth spot were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., Bob Goaly, Belleville, Ill., and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill. They all had 216's.

Wes Ellis Jr., Aldecres, N.J., Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Penn., and Doug Sanders, Cedar-town, Ga., were in the fifth position with 217's.

Rio, Lewis to Appear Before Dean of Men

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Only a remot possibility remained today that intercollegiate eligibility would be restored to two University of Michigan athletes who pleaded guilty to charges resulting from a crackdown on campus football gambling.

Football fullback Tony RIO and basketball Capt. Jack Lewis must appear before the university's dean of men and the joint judiciary council before their athletic futures can be decided.

Fritz Crisler, Michigan athletic director, said his department must wait before ruling on the eligibility issue.

A high university source said it is doubtful RIO and Lewis would receive a clean bill of health.

RIO and Lewis, both 21-year-old seniors from Chicago, pleaded guilty Friday to charges of engaging in an illegal occupation. They were arrested last week along with five other Michigan students when police exposed the selling of football parlay cards on campus. The university suspended both athletes from varsity competition pending disposition of their cases.

Both Lewis and RIO, who originally stood mute at their Oct. 29 arraignment, changed their pleas. Municipal Judge Francis L. O'Brien fined each $100 for the misdemeanor.

James A. Lewis, university vice president for student affairs, said the cases of all students involved would be processed very soon through normal university channels.

Another student, Durwood J. Collins, 22, of Houston, Tex., also changed his plea to guilty Friday and was fined $100.

Last week three of the other four students changed their pleas to guilty and were given similar fines. A Nov. 13 jury trial is scheduled for the remaining student.

Leetonia Seeking Football Opponents

Leetonia High School is looking for football opponents next season for the dates of Sept. 18 and Nov. 13.

The squad is willing to play any Class AA or Class A team at home or away.

Persons interested may contact Faculty Manager Charles Besse at Leetonia High School.

Cleveland Stockholders
To Meet December 10

CLEVELAND (AP)—Stockholders of the Cleveland Indians will meet at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 10.

The meeting was requested by a minority group including Hank Greenberg, former general manager of the Tribe, and Charles and Andrew Baxter.

Greenberg and the Baxters issued a statement last month demanding that paid officials of the club resign. They suggested that more authority be given General Manager Frank Lane in the club's operation. Lane is not an officer of the Tribe.

Stan Musial Homers
As Cards Win in Japan

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP)—Stan "The Man" Musial slammed a three-run homer in the first inning today to start the St. Louis Cardinals rolling toward a 5-1 victory over Japan's All Stars.

Musial brought the 30,000 American and Japanese fans at Heiwa Stadium to their feet when he hoisted the ball 400 feet into the right center field bleachers to give the Cards a 3-0 lead.

It was Musial's first homer of the tour, and the Cards' eighth win against two losses in the 16 game series.

Leopards Gain 16-6 Decision Over Minerva

After the smoke had cleared and the penalties marked off, Louisville emerged the victor over Minerva 16-6 in their annual rivalry staged at Minerva last night. It was a rough, hard fought battle as Minerva collected 100 yards in penalties and Louisville garnered 65 yards in the same department.

Louisville scored in the first quarter on a pass from quarterback Darryl Wartluft to his brother, halfback Dale. The play covered 15 yards. Quarterback Wartluft sneaked over for the 2 extra points.

In the second frame, another Wartluft pass, this time to fullback Gene Steadman was good for 5 yards and a TD. The same combination clicked for the extra points.

Minerva's lone tally came in the fourth quarter as Knox drove over from the one. They try for extra point failed.

N. Y. Giants
Are Ready for Baltimore Tilt

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Giants will be at full strength for the first time this season Sunday when they entertain the powerful Baltimore Colts. They also will be underdogs.

These two factors could spell trouble for the Colts, who lead the Western Conference of the National Football League with a 6-0 record.

The Giants were 10-point underdogs for last Sunday's meeting with Cleveland. But without the services of three key operatives they surprised by beating the previously undefeated Browns 21-17.

The three key men—halfback Frank Gifford, quarterback Don Heinrich and right guard Jack Stroud—will be ready for Baltimore. It's the Colts who have an injured list. Star backs John Unitas and L. G. Dupey will not face the Giants. Baltimore is a three-point favorite.

The New York game is one of six on the full NFL program.

The Browns, one game in front of the Giants in the Eastern Conference race, meet the Detroit Lions in Cleveland. San Francisco will be at Los Angeles, Green Bay at Chicago Bears, Chicago Cardinals at Washington and Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.

The Lions, who have only one victory and a tie in six games, will have to do a complete about-face to give the Browns any trouble. But Detroit has a 6-1 record over the Browns including regular season and championship games.

Conversely, Jim Brown of Cleveland will be out to maintain his 155 yards per game average. The brilliant fullback gained "only" 113 yards against the Giants. He needs 219 more to better Steve Van Buren's league mark. Jim's total is 928.

The Bears, second to Baltimore in the Western Conference with a 4-2 record, are 14-point choices to make it two straight over Green Bay. The Bears won 34-20 in their first meeting.

Los Angeles is a 6½-point favorite over San Francisco, Philadelphia two over Pittsburgh and Washington three over the Cardinals.

TAXES PAID!

The Ohio Tax On Your Deposits Will Again Be Paid for You by This Bank

The Ohio Tax Law provides for an annual tax of 2 mills on deposits in financial institutions in this state. Under the law this tax is collected from the institution which, in turn, is given the right to collect it from the depositors by deducting it from their deposit accounts.

This tax has been in effect for 28 years and AGAIN this year FIRST National will pay this tax for our depositors, without charging it to or deducting it from depositor's accounts. It will NOT be deducted from your balance.
